12 SELECTED TO CONSIDER PLANS

SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM TO BE OUTLINED AND GIVEN FULL INVESTIGATION

ACTION IS STARTED

IF COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT FAVORABLE, MASS MEETING WILL HEAR DETAILS

Acting under authorization given by the board of city trustees at its last meeting, Dwight Stephenson, president of the board, has announced the names of the twelve citizens chosen to consider plans for a sewage disposal system to be submitted for Glendale by Olmsted & Gillelen, an engineering firm.

Trustee Stephenson announced the committee at the first annual dinner held by the Chamber of Commerce in the First Methodist church last night during a talk he made on the municipality's light and water departments and plans contemplated for the future, including bond issues to be voted upon March 29.

Twelve Citizens Appointed

The following are the twelve citizens appointed by Trustee Stephenson:

F. H. Vesper, 104 N. Brand.
W. E. Hewitt, Glendale Laundry.
Dr. Harry V. Brown, 144 N. Orange.
Mrs. Mabel Tight, 612 E. Broadway.
W. M. Windham, 225 S. Central.
Chas. B. Murphy, 320 E. Dryden.
G. B. Woodberry, 346 N. Kenwood.
G. N. Adams, 335 El Bonito Ave.
C. W. Jones, 640 W. Broadway.
W. W. McElroy, 510 S. Adams.
A. W. Beach, 633 N. Brand.
Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, 307 N. Kenwood.

Contract Is Signed Up

The city authorities have already entered into a contract with the engineering firm to prepare the sewage system plans, but, it is explained, the city will pay no money for the work on the plans unless the project is favorably received by the citizens generally.

It is proposed for the committee of twelve to consider the plans after they are prepared. If the plans are approved, then a mass meeting will be called and the plans further considered. If approved by the mass meeting, then the trustees will call a bond election.

"The proposed plans will be given the fullest investigation; we will not act until the people are satisfied," said Trustee Stephenson." The sewage disposal is the greatest problem now confronting the city and it is absolutely necessary that we take it up at once and start towards a solution."

The organization is backing the candidacy of Major Walter F. Lineberger of Long Beach for congressman, the special election to be held on February 15.

Mr. Story is completing a list of people in Glendale favoring the candidacy of Major Lineberger to be forwarded to headquarters.

"The work of collecting the names is easy," declared Mr. Story, as he displayed a list of Glendale voters favoring the Long Beach man's candidacy. "In fact, it's not work—it's a pleasure, for everyone seems to want to be listed as a supporter of Major Lineberger."

One of the principal features of the meeting was the passage of resolutions asking that an investigation be held in an effort to bring down the building costs.

"The building situation in the east is very bad," said Mr. Ferry. "It is agreed that prices are too high and that some action should be taken to readjust them."

Mr. Ferry has the contract for the installation of a portion of Glendale's water system and he says the work will be finished in about ninety days.

OUTING ENJOYED

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL PINGREE OF 1425 NORTH PACIFIC TAKE MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Pingree of 1425 North Pacific avenue, accompanied by Hollywood friends, enjoyed a very pleasant motor trip over the week-end. Their quest for pleasure took them first to San Diego, via the coast, then to Santa Ana on Saturday, where they rested until Sunday morning. Riverside was the next point visited.

Here they delivered greetings from friends to the manager of the Riverside Mission Inn. He conducted them about the Inn, which they appreciated doubly from the description and history given them of many things which would be unknown and unguessed by a casual observer. They were even allowed a glimpse of the kitchen.

After enjoying dinner amid these romantic surroundings they turned towards home, with minds full of pictures to while away dark, rainy days, which are few in southern California.

C. OF C. STARTS MEMBER DRIVE

TEAMS START OUT TODAY FOR ENLISTMENTS UNDER PLANS FOR RE-ORGANIZATION

BIG DINNER IS GIVEN

OVER 400 PERSONS PRESENT AT MEETING LAST NIGHT IN METHODIST CHURCH

The Chamber of Commerce membership drive under the plans of reorganization started today when teams took the field following a meeting at 9 o'clock this morning at headquarters on West Broadway, where final instructions were given by J. O. Stevenson, in charge of the work.

The Blue division is in charge of R. D. White and Owen Emery; the Gold division is directed by C. D. Lusby and David Gregg; the Women's division is headed by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. E. V. Bacon and Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward.

The leaders and their aids met at noon today in the banquet room of the First Methodist church to make reports and to hear further instructions.

Banquet Held Last Night

More than 400 men and women of Glendale attended the first annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in the First Methodist church last night, it being given by the Citizens' Campaign Executive committee on the eve of the opening of the membership drive.

James O. Stevenson, in general charge of the drive and the re-organization plans, stated at last night's meeting that the gathering was the largest of its kind in more than thirty campaigns he has conducted in California cities. The nearest approach to last night's meeting, he said, was that held in Long Beach about two years ago, when about 350 attended.

The gathering was a complete success in every detail, was the decision of members of the executive committee, following adjournment. The meal served by the women of the First Methodist church was perfect. This was divided by a public vote taken at the suggestion of Jesse E. Smith, chairman, on motion of V. M. Hollister, seconded by C. E. Neale. The music was provided by the local high school orchestra and was excellent, the gathering voted, on motion of Roy L. Kent, seconded by E. P. Hayward. And the executive committee was instructed to formally tell the women of the church and the orchestra organization that both had materially aided in the Chamber of Commerce's re-organization plans.

Chairman Makes Brief Talk

Chairman Smith made his introductory remarks short and snappy. He outlined the preliminary work of the executive committee, said all the points of the proposed re-organization plans had been considered and declared that no member of the committee had a personal motive in undertaking the task. No salary was being paid anyone, he said, and the director of the campaign is receiving a commission, his contract having already been published in full in The Evening News.

"We are starting clean," asserted Chairman Smith. "Each one of us is putting the best he has into the work for the best interests of Glendale to make this a bigger and a better city. It's your town; you can make it what you will—by centralization of effort."

W. E. Evans Is Toastmaster

W. E. Evans, formerly city attorney of Glendale and who has for years taken an active interest in civic affairs, was then introduced by Chairman Smith as toastmaster.

Mr. Evans told of his attendance at his first public meeting in Glendale. He stated that it was held in May, 1911, and was called by an improvement association. He declared that at that time men with a vision had predicted the city's great growth and had lived to see their predictions come true.

The speaker asserted that one of Glendale's greatest assets at this time is the fact that it is the fastest growing city in the United States, as shown by the last census reports, and he declared that a live Chamber of Commerce could capitalize that one fact so that it would be worth a million dollars in advertising.

He declared that early in life he had learned that "there are more people in a big town than in a little town," and he suggested that a properly directed Chamber of Commerce could and would bring that truth out and to the attention of the country.

"Glendale has just begun to

HUNTING PARTY BATTLES FLOOD

MR. AND MRS. F. H. MELLUS OF 355 WEST LEXINGTON IN DANGER FROM STORM

ESCAPE IN BOATS

EIGHTEEN PERSONS ARE HELD PRISONERS AS RESULT OF OVERFLOW FROM RIVERS

After facing death, both from threatened starvation and by drowning, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mellus, 355 West Lexington Drive, returned to Glendale last night, bringing a thrilling story of their experiences on a duck hunting trip eighty miles north of Marysville, in northern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellus joined a duck hunting party and everything was proceeding most pleasantly when a heavy storm arose, adding waters to those previously deposited by storms since last November.

The rivers rose rapidly and the hunting party, numbering eighteen, was marooned in a clubhouse. The levees were not high enough to hold back the flood waters and the entire country was covered. Their automobiles were imprisoned by the mud and water. There was only one motor boat—and that was not in working condition.

Situation Proves Serious

The wind was blowing a gale estimated at 150 miles an hour. It was wet, cold and disagreeable. The situation grew menacing. The entire party was in grave danger.

The only means of escape offered were small duck boats, each just large enough to hold two people. But death by drowning was certain if the attempt was made to reach mainland while the storm was in progress.

Fortunately, the wind finally died down; the rain ceased. Then it was that the eighteen persons, two at a time, reached mainland in the duck boats.

Now that they are safely back in Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Mellus are relating their experience with smiles, but at the time it was no laughing matter, they say, for they did not expect either rescue or escape.

BICYCLE IS AGED

BUILT BY BLACKSMITH BACK IN 1867 AND IS NOW ON DISPLAY IN GLENDALE

Then and now—that's pictured in the bicycle shop of William A. Pfeifer, adjoining The Evening News building. On display, in the midst of modern bicycles, is a bike of age. It's fifty-four years old, in fact—and looks it.

Way back in 1867 there was an active boy by the name of M. W. Clark, aged 16. He had a blacksmith by the name of Charles Short build him a bicycle. All this happened in the state of Illinois. The wheel looks like a blacksmith made it.

But the Clark chap had a pair of sturdy legs and he sure could send that blacksmith-made bike 'round the track.

One day, back in '67, a big race was held. Clark was anxious to enter. But, like Sheridan, he was twenty miles away—away from where his bike was stabled. So he walked the twenty miles, rode back on the bike the twenty miles, entered the race, rode thirty miles, won it, the cash prize offered and made a backer so happy that said backer made him a present of $25 and a suit of clothes.

Both Here to Prove It

And now, today, that boy, M. W. Clark, is no longer a resident of Illinois. He resides, as a retired capitalist, at 2317 Twelfth avenue, Los Angeles, and the bike he rode that day—and many other days when he was young, is on display in the window of William A. Pfeifer's store in this city, looking a whole lot more aged and rusty than does its former rider.

The aged bike was brought to Glendale by Charles Fuller Gates, 35 Warren street, New York City, known as the "bicycle missionary," and representative of the Cycle Trades of America. He purchased the wheel from Mr. Clark, who had it in storage.

It was not until twelve years after Clark's famous walk and race that ball bearings came into use on bicycles, so, after one looks at the wheel he rode, it may be imagined he had a pair of sturdy legs.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOW UNDER WAY

grow," he said, "and we must prepare for the future. We must centralize our efforts. We must have team work. We must get ready for all the folks coming here. We must give loyal support to this campaign for the standardization and expansion of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce."

James O. Stevenson Speaks

The next speaker was James O. Stevenson, secured by the executive committee to direct the campaign. He told of the early history of Chamber of Commerce work, how the various organizations under that name had been operated under widely different plans, then told of the standardization of the organizations until now, he said, a secretary from a distant organization could enter another Chamber of Commerce and carry on the work, all because the details and plans of operation had been standardized.

Mr. Stevenson asserted that the plans under which the campaign were being carried had been tried out in scores of cities and had been proven successful.

"There have been no failures under this plan," he declared. "I say to you that it does not cost more to have an efficient organization. In fact, it costs more not to have one. This is not an experiment. Neighboring cities have tried the plan; they have found it a complete success. It will be a success in Glendale."

The speaker gave other details regarding the work and called attention to a prospectus issued by the executive committee, copies of which were distributed at last night's meeting and other copies being available at the organization's headquarters on West Broadway.

President Stephenson Is Speaker

Dwight Stephenson, president of the board of city trustees, was the next speaker and he gave a very clear statement regarding the city's light and water departments. He made a report on the finances of both departments and told of the remarkable showing made by each.

He stated that both departments were self-sustaining, despite the fact that the rates, he said, are from 15 to 30 per cent less than those paid in nearby cities.

Calling attention to the charter and bond issues to be voted upon March 29, he urged that a favorable vote be cast for all. He explained that the money asked for the water department was to place mains in rapidly growing territory that must be served if the city is to continue its present growth.

The sewage problem, he said, was, in the main, yet unsolved, although the Verdugo district was about to vote bonds for relief and, too, the business district was to consider plans for a system. He then told of a contract just made with an engineering firm to submit a plan for the relief of the entire city, the plan to be prepared, then submitted to a committee of twelve citizens for approval or rejection. If approved, the plan is to be passed on to a mass meeting for approval or rejection. If approved, the trustees will call a bond election, so that the voters may finally decide the questions for themselves. He then announced the committee of twelve citizens, which is given elsewhere in this issue of The Evening News.

In closing, President Stephenson declared he was heartily in favor of the re-organization of the Chamber of Commerce under the plans outlined and urged that the campaign be carried to a most successful conclusion.

Captain J. D. Fredericks Talks

Representing the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Captain John D. Fredericks, first vice president of that organization, said he came to the meeting with instructions from the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to extend greetings to Glendale and to urge the necessity of the city's carrying out the plans proposed.

"There should be no necessity of urging you to do so," he asserted. "You should need no argument. What brought most of you to southern California? Why, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, of course. I went to work thirty years ago for the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. I know something of what it has done; what it plans to do in the future. And right here I want to say to you that Los Angeles has no desire to annex the city of Glendale. If you want to come in, why, you are welcome. If not, we are satisfied. The same for other communities adjoining us.

"But a real Chamber of Commerce you should—you must—have. Your city is part of the world's great workshop. You know that work can be carried on here more days in the years than in any other spot. And with the greater part of the world's population bordering on the Pacific ocean, it is only a question of a comparatively short time—many of you will live to see it—when this territory will be built solidly from Burbank clear to Long Beach and you will not know when you pass from one city into the other."

Urges Paid Secretary

After enlarging upon the topic of trade with China, Japan and India, with great industries established in southern California, Captain Fredericks took up the matter of Chamber of Commerce work and urged that a real secretary be secured. He declared against a volunteer worker. He said a secretary should be a "live one" and should be paid a real salary. Also, he said, care should be used in selecting the directors. He cited the fact that men whose time is worth a great deal of money serve willingly, without pay, as directors of the Los Angeles organization.

"Get the big men of your community on the board of directors," he suggested. "Don't let men get on the board who have axes to grind. Get men of vision; men of experience; men who are successful themselves; men who will work for the general good; men who will have the best interests of the community at heart. Then back them up in whatever program they propose. In that way the organization will be a success and in that way you will accomplish big things. It is the experience of every successful community; it's not an experiment."

Long Beach Pastor Talks

Rev. George P. Taubman, pastor of the First Christian church of Long Beach and announced as the leader of the largest men's Bible class in the world, who spoke at a recent meeting here in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce re-organization plans, was the next speaker. He is also known as the "story telling pastor" and he delivered some new ones last night that pleased the gathering.

In discussing Chamber of Commerce work, he said that Mr. Stevenson was secured to re-organize the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce about two years ago and did the work most successfully. He asserted that until the organization had been re-organized, Long Beach had failed to vote bonds for its schools. Since then the bonds had been carried, largely due to the campaign conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. He also said that Long Beach was about to vote on a new charter—the city manager plan—and he stated that the Chamber of Commerce was responsible for seeing to it that the board of freeholders was made up of men with a forward-looking policy.

"The right kind of a Chamber of Commerce is made up of men and women with a vision," asserted Rev. Taubman. "By organization they are capable of conducting campaigns of education. Interests are centralized. They will build for the future. You have no slums now. You will not have them in the future, provided you have a live Chamber of Commerce on the job. A Chamber of Commerce makes for health, morals and happiness."

The speaker told of the great trade awaiting with China, Japan and India and declared that it would only be a short time before the Pacific coast would have the industries to care for it.

"We will not have to pay freight; we are tired of paying it. Soon we will have all the industries here. Our population will exceed that of the Atlantic coast. A dream? Is it? Well, then the pioneers here twenty-five years ago were dreamers, too."

In closing the speaker made a strong appeal for all those who had volunteered to work in the campaign to carry out the plans as outlined for them by the organizer and the executive committee.

Former Ford Official Speaks

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, member of the board of city trustees, was called upon, but had just previously been compelled to leave the meeting. Then Charles A. Brownell, until recently chief of the publicity department of the Ford Motor company of Detroit, now a resident of Glendale, was introduced. He made a hit, and although he is no longer connected with the Ford plant, "put over" plenty of publicity for "Lizzie," as he called the product of the organization.

"When I joined the Ford company, the output was 18,000 cars a year; when I left the yearly output was 1,027,000," he declared. "What did it? Organization. Yes—organization. That's the answer. Henry made 'em and I sold 'em."

Then the speaker told a number of Ford stories, with the result that the impression prevailed, according to Toastmaster Evans, that the fountain of all the thousands of Ford jokes had, at last, been discovered in Mr. Brownell.

Then, speaking seriously, Mr. Brownell reiterated the fact that it is organization that wins. The right motive and the right organization, he declared, could put anything over.

He declared that the present business depression in the east was the result of the world war. He said that there was a depression for ten years following the civil war. He predicted that by the end of this year business would be humming and that great prosperity would prevail for a long time to come.

In closing he again talked "organization" and urged that the proposed Chamber of Commerce be made into one great community organization and announced his intention of becoming a member, for, he said, he had searched the south and was well satisfied that Glendale's prospects were the brightest.

The audience indicated it liked the talk given by one of its newest citizens and, no doubt, Mr. Brownell will be called upon in the future to entertain and, also, to lend from his fund of experiences with one of the greatest organizations in the world, said many who had heard him last night.

Chairman Smith brought the meeting to a close with the announcement that the team's captain and members would meet at 9 o'clock this morning to start the drive and would at noon today, meet in the banquet room of the First Methodist church to report.

"We are going over the top in this drive—and we're going over big," announced Chairman Smith, as he adjourned the meeting.
